

EMAIL ROUTING ACCORDING TO EMAIL CONTENTABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

- 5 Email administration including receiving through a transcoding gateway an email message comprising a digital object having a digital object type, the transcoding gateway coupled to a display device, the transcoding gateway including a display device record comprising display format attribute of the display device, wherein the display format attributes include a display format type for the display device.
- 10 Embodiments include finding a display device record for a destination display device, wherein the destination display device comprises a display device having a display format type that is the same as the digital object type; transcoding the digital object in dependence upon the display format attributes of the destination display device; and displaying the transcoded digital object on the destination display device.

15